

Final Project ideas

I want to showcase my artwork such as abstract art such as zine work, graphite drawings, charcoal drawings, photographs etc. I would do a home page (index page), then a tab for each style of artwork I have done while on each tab showcasing a few of each collection of work and the concept I am trying to reveal to the audience. I would want to create a visual bridge between the styles of artwork that I incorporated into my portfolio and show how they are similar yet different to who I am as a designer and artists.

For my website layout, I would have a limited color palette probably grey, white, and black with an accent color. I want some of the interactive elements to be around the photos themselves such as creating a lightbox affect when hovering over each image and enlarging them or creating a color roll over affect when going over each black and white image. I'll defiantly incorporate animations as I did for my second project, maybe have a GIF. for each period of abstract artists. I would create a YouTube video myself or insert one about a brief history of my style and genres of art and design I create in the home page. I would also add an auto scroll feature to the webpage that when you get to the bottom, you can hit an arrow that will shoot you up to the top of the page.
