For Project 2 in Web Design, I would like to make an informational website about Big Sur, California. Big Sur Is the largest area of undeveloped nature in the United States. Big Sur stretches 71 miles along the pacific coastline and is home to varying communities from Pfeiffer to Monterey. The best way to experience the Big Sur coast is to spend a few days and drive the whole 71 mile length and hit all the attractions as they come like McWay Falls or the Elephant seal Beach.

Because of the nature of Big Sur I would like to make the site one long webpage with hyperlinks to each section. I want the website experience to feel like a road trip along the pacific coastline and I believe making it one single long page will carry that feel.
