

The Project A is a sport analytic that gives advice and options for the viewer. Videos are the primary source of information. Some dialogue will be included to offer visual aid. The purpose of it is an easy way to practice sports.

The frame is of the site based around a sport, how to play it, and how it is played. For those who tend to partake in sports technically guides are offered. The demo on the last tab will show them how people have and still do play the sport.