

Final Project Proposal

Kayla Halbig

I want to do a portfolio website that has a playful but professional aesthetic. I want to use this for applications or as a place for people to look at my art if they want to work with me. This will be showcasing all my artwork from college, but mainly graphic design, web design, UX design, and illustrations. I would like to have separate sections in the website according to the type of artwork. I like sans-serif typefaces so I will likely use those, not 100% on the exact typeface names. The color scheme would likely be darker colors as I enjoy dark color schemes its easier on the eyes and allows for high contrast. I also like the colors orange/yellow-orange and pale blues so I will highlight important parts with those colors. I also want to have a section in the website that lists all of my previous collaborations or work or a “cv”.

I also enjoyed the net.art project so maybe I will have that aesthetic as well throughout the website! I like techy or mechanical things so maybe it could be a pattern in the background or a line break design.
