

WWW2 Topic Paragraph for Project 2

For my project 2 I will be making a website centered around the NFL Superbowls and the history and statistics of each one. The landing page will be one long timeline from the first superbowl all the way down to the most recent super bowl 60. As you go down the timeline you will see the logo for each super bowl which you will be able to click and it takes you to a page where all of those details are listed. Each page will show the winner, the 2 teams that played, the score, the quarterback for each team, the year it happened at the top, and if there was a halftime show that will be the second part of the page it will show who the performer was. At the top of the landing page I will also have a sticky header that will have tabs for 60s 70s 80s and so on that jump to that section of the timeline.

This page will be mainly for adults who are long time NFL fans but kids who are interested are welcome to view the stats. The pictures that will be used will all be from the games itself so no original pictures will be used. The logo will be the nfl logo or maybe a self created logo "The NFL timecapsule" The font for the headers will be some sort of playbook font or yearbook/sports related font and the body text font will be a legible traditional sans-serif.
